Designed for a sustainable future.

Whiterock's Six Leaf EnviroDevelopment certification is a reflection of an unwavering commitment to sustainable and responsible development.

Ecosystems

In addition to the parks and gardens dotted throughout Whiterock, around 240ha of rehabilitated and regenerated bushland will be incorporated into the White Rock Conservation Estate for koala habitat, bushwalking and bike riding.

Energy

All dwellings will be required to achieve a 7-star energy rating. Other key measures are to maximise the north-east aspect of houses, provision of shading devices, cross ventilation to reduce air-conditioning, higher soffits on outdoor rooms to allow for fans and encouraging solar hot water.

Water

Guidelines will see all homes at Whiterock meet key water efficiency and WELS-rating targets. A rainwater harvesting pond is to be located within the central park to collect stormwater runoff and provide water to irrigate the sportsfields. Parks, corridors and streets will be landscaped with at least 70% drought tolerant and indigenous species.

Waste

We've set high targets for recycling and reuse of materials during construction, with everyone working together to minimise landfill and maximise resource recovery. A two-bin system for general and recyclable waste will be adopted in parks and public spaces.

Materials

As well as using recycled aggregates in road construction, we're committed to ensuring that materials are from responsible and sustainable sources. Vegetative material from the site will be reused as mulch wherever possible. Any non-contaminated topsoil will be stockpiled for reuse.

Community

Our goal is to create a socially sustainable community by creating diverse, accessible, interconnected places hosting a wide range of activities. Plus, playgrounds, sportsfields, the school, the Community Clubhouse and the future Whiterock Village are all designed to bring the community together.

Intrapac Property

Since we began over 30 years ago, Intrapac has built up an impressive national portfolio of exceptional, award-winning addresses. Experienced, reliable, Australian-owned and focused on delivering the very best in urban planning and environmentally sustainable design, Intrapac has created ground-breaking projects that consistently deliver above expectations: offering unsurpassed peace-of-mind for owners, and a genuine sense of community for all residents.

The combination of ingenuity, quality, beauty and functionality sets Intrapac properties apart – from small-scale boutique projects to masterplanned communities that become destinations in their own right. These hallmarks underpin our long-term vision of marrying stylish, practical homes with inspiring shared spaces, and premium locations that allow for easy connections to regional facilities, transport, shopping, schools and amenities. The result – neighbourhoods that are attractive and welcoming from day one, and remain so for generations to come.

Our projects have also achieved some of Australia's most prestigious industry awards, including six UDIA Awards for Excellence for Residential Development, and it is this legacy of quality and innovation that we strive to continue at Whiterock.
